Possible suicide:

Man seen to jump from bridge

Rescue personnel found no body after a man was reported to have parked his car on the Pioneer (freeway) Bridge on Sunday and then jumped off into the river.

At least one witness reported the incident at about noon, after the subject parked on the West Sacramento side of the bridge.

A team of divers, a Yolo County Sheriff's Department boat and personnel from the Sacramento Fire Department all searched the area for about five hours, but found no sign of a victim.

A car was recovered at the scene. Its owner, Rogel Manlulu of Sacramento, is considered a missing person as a result of the case.

PHOTO CONTEST:

Saturday is deadline for West Sac shutter-bugs

From Art Schroeder
City of West Sacramento

Don't wait until it's too late! The final day to enter West Sacramento's "15 Days In May" photo contest is Saturday, May 15. A special drop-off point will be available inside the north entrance to the Civic Center between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Take a photo of everyday life in West Sacramento and qualify to win $500 cash—one of six first place prizes in the contest. Each second- and third-prize winner receives $250 and $100.

The contest is open to all amateur photographers, regardless of experience. Any camera can be used. Entry categories are available for residents, nonresidents, college photography students and people working in West Sacramento. There is no cost to enter.

Photographers are free to choose their subject for the photo—people, places, landscapes or landmarks. The only requirements are that the photo must be taken in West Sacramento between now and May 15, 2004. Photos may be in color or black-and-white.

Official entry forms are available at any city office or the city's Web site (www.ci.west-sacramento.ca.us). Turn in entry forms with photo prints to the West Sacramento Civic Center, 1110 West Capitol Ave. – no later than 5 p.m. this Saturday, May 15. Winners will be announced June 16 by the West Sacramento City Council.

For more information, call the city of West Sacramento at (916) 617-4500.

'Meals' volunteers feted

The Elderly Nutrition Program (ENP) held a special Volunteer Recognition Luncheon on April 22 at the Senior Center. Over 65 individuals were honored, including the local Rotary Club and numerous City of West Sacramento employees. They volunteer their time serving meals to seniors in West Sacramento through the West Sacramento Senior Center and Meals on Wheels.

Joining in the festivities were many seniors, volunteers and ENP staff, the ENP Board of Directors, and special guest, West Sacramento City Councilman Oscar Villegas. Oscar and local board members Jolaine Beers and Jan Williams presented "Treasured Volunteer" certificated and T-shirts to all the volunteers.

"Our volunteers make the Elderly Nutrition Program possible," said Jolaine Beers, "and we are extremely grateful to each and every one of them."

Collene Brock, Executive Director of ENP, reported that 24,624 nutritionally balanced, hot, lunchtime meals were served in West Sacramento this past year and over 100,000 meals were served to 1,600 seniors throughout Yolo County.

Additional drivers and kitchen workers are always needed, so if you would like to be part of this important program and become a volunteer, call Patty Hickey, site manager, at 373-5805.

'Academy' K-8 school pursued for north West Sac

Washington Unified School District's board of trustees tomorrow will consider hiring of an appraiser to begin the process of creating a new "academy" school at the former Lighthouse Marina development site. The district hopes to open a kindergarten-through-eighth grade school at the project, which is now owned by Grupe, Inc.

"There's a need for a new school in that part of town, with the development of Metro Place, Capitol Place Apartments, the new Westwood Apartments on F Street and Eighth, and Ironworks and other planned developments," said Rob Corley, district facilities consultant. "This would be the purchase of a site in that neighborhood to serve that neighborhood and the surrounding area."

Corley added that the school could open as soon as 2006, but most likely in 2007.

"The Rivers Fundamental Academy" would offer "a fundamental academic program, strict student code of conduct, citizenship focus, parental involvement component and admission criteria," according to information supplied by the district. Any child in the district would be eligible to apply, and parents would have to sign contracts to volunteer and support the school.

The school would be expected to serve 400 K-6 students and 140 more in grades seven and eight.

"The Rivers" is the name of the project planned by Grupe (pronounced "groupey") for the residential development which has faced years of delay, under other ownership, at its northeastern West Sacramento location.

Negotiations for school site delayed but continuing

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Washington Unified School District continues to negotiate for the final acreage it wants for a new high school in West Sacramento's Southport area.

Rob Corley, the district's facilities consultant, said yesterday that WUSD "continues to be in negotiations with the seller, and in fact we spoke yesterday and are continuing to talk."

The district hopes to buy 39 acres owned by the Frugoli family along Jefferson Blvd. near Linden Road. It is already under contract to buy 54 acres from the Iwasaki family for $10.8 million, or $200,000 per acre. Corley said in January that the district believes the Frugoli land is worth somewhat less, as it is zoned for lower density housing use.

The two properties would end up providing about 90 "net" acres for use in building a new high school, for which local voters approved a bond measure in March.

A local businessman quoted in a Sacramento newspaper suggested that the district instead buy a 65 acre parcel near the barge canal owned by the Port of Sacramento for the new high school. But Corley said "that information was not put out by us, it was put out by a third party. This (property near Jefferson and Linden) has always been planned for a high school."

District officials had predicted that land negotiations would be finished in the same month as the bond election – March – but Corley said the delay has not caused any significant problems. He said the two sides simply have not yet agreed on a purchase price for the Frugoli land.

ON MERKLEY AVENUE:

New teen center opens amid fanfare

The new "Collings West Sacramento Teen Center" held a grand opening celebration yesterday at a former Bank of America processing center at 1541 Merkley Avenue. The center, remodeled to serve local high school-age teens, is sited near Hollywood Hardware, a senior citizens' complex and a U.S. Post Office.

"The center will provide a safe, drug-free and alcohol-free environment for teens," said director Dave Dove in a press release. "This will be a place where they can connect with healthy adult role models and mentors.

Dove added that operations at the center will include life skills and job skills training, tutoring, a weight room, basketball court, snack bar, computer room, TV room and computer room.

"We will continue to phase in operations of the teen center throughout the summer so that it is fully operational by the beginning of the 2004-2005 school years," said Dove.

The center will be managed by Campus Life Connection, a faith-based non-profit organization that operates two other Sacramento-area teen centers. Dove said that 60 percent of the center's construction costs came from donated time and materials. Also involved were the local school district, city government, businesses, individuals and churches.

The center is named for Frances and Chuck Collings. Chuck Collings is a retired top manager from the Raley's/Bel Air Corporation, headquartered in West Sacramento.

SUSPECTED D.U.I. DEATH:

Man killed as car hits concrete pillar

A man is dead and two others injured after a car struck a concrete bridge support last week.

According to a police report, driver Benedo Zaragoza, 29, was seen leaving Ortega West, a West Capitol Avenue nightclub, at about 1 a.m. on Sunday morning with two passengers. While going eastbound on West Capitol, the car struck a concrete support under the I-80 overpass.

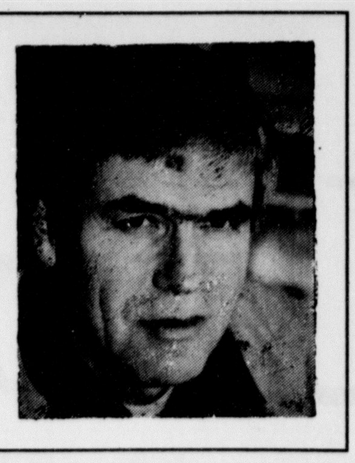
Mariano Diaz-Flores, a San Jose resident, was killed in the collision. He was 42 years old, and was reported to have been sitting in the rear of the car.

Zaragoza was taken to the UC Davis Medical Center emergency room with injuries that included a severe ankle break, and passenger Juan Macial was treated for injuries as well. Details of their injuries were not available.

Zaragoza, a West Sacramento resident, was arrested for felony drunk driving and gross vehicular manslaughter while intoxicated.

Remembering the 'garage dances' of the Fifties

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

One of the great things about living in West Sacramento all these many decades is that I run into people I grew up with from time to time.

A few years ago, while strolling along on my nightly walk, a car pulled up next to me and a smiling lady stuck her head out the window and said, "Is that you, Daryl?"

"Sandy Brinkhuis," I said, recognizing her immediately. "How are you?"

"Just fine," she answered as I approached her window.

"And who is this?" I asked, pointing towards the pretty young teenage girl seated next to her.

"This is my daughter," she announced proudly. "We're in West Sac visiting my parents."

"How are they?" I asked.

"They're really good," she answered. "How about your mom and dad?"

"Well, they finally decided to sell their old house on Michigan Boulevard and they're living over in Sacramento now and they seem to be loving it."

"Good for them."

"I'm afraid I'm still not quite used to it," I admitted. "I drove by the old place just the other day and it's hard to believe it now belongs to someone else."

For the next few minutes Sandy and I chatted away about our kids, work, and 'the good old days' when she had lived just a few blocks away from me on Rock Rose Road. She also asked me if I might know of anyone who could possibly get her and her husband a couple of Sacramento Kings basketball tickets for a game scheduled later that month.

"Our daughter is performing at halftime," she explained, "and the game is apparently sold out. We'd really like to go and I'm asking everyone I know."

I said I'd ask around, gave her a card with my work number on it, and told her to give me a call in a few days to remind me.

"It's been fun talking to you," she said, "and be sure to tell Cheryl (my twin sister) hi for me."

"Take care," I said as we exchanged smiles and waved goodbye.

As Sandy drove away and as I stepped back up on the sidewalk to continue my walk, I couldn't help thinking to myself that she still had those same knockout eyes my friends and I used to talk about. Then, for the first time in almost 30 years, I suddenly remembered "the dance", and I started to smile as the memory of it began to come back to me in surprising detail.

First, a little history. When I was 15 years old (maybe it was 14) my sister suggested to my parents that we have a garage dance. The idea somehow caught on and before long all of our friends for blocks around were hosting dances in their colorfully decorated garages. They were very simple affairs, with parents for chaperons, cake to eat and punch to drink, and Ricky Nelson records for dancing. The same people almost always attended; Billy Nichols, Ray Harrell, Richie Yancey, Doug Felton, Mike Crumley and I were usually the boys, and my sister, Ellen Hampshire, Nancy Tachera, Carol Secord and Sandy Brinkhuis were among the girl regulars.

At the time, I wasn't really into girls, and actually dancing with one was something I was hoping to put off for as many years as humanly possible. My idyllic life more or less revolved around the sport of baseball, and if I wasn't playing it at the local school with my friends, I was watching it on TV or desperately trying to obtain the autographs and bubble gum cards of all the San Francisco Giants. My sister noticed this, convinced my mother that I was completely lacking in all the social graces, and the garage dances were seen as a good way for me to begin correcting the problem.

So, I went to all the dances, wolfed down whatever food was served, drank gallons of punch, and snickered at anyone who actually seemed to be having a good time.

That is, until one Saturday night, in my own garage no less, when someone put on an old Platter's 45 (known simply back then as a slow record) and I somehow found myself in the arms of Sandy Brinkhuis.

As we danced (actually, Sandy danced, I didn't have a clue what my feet were doing), I suddenly found myself with all kinds of alarming new emotions. Plus I was absolutely amazed at how good she smelled.

Anyway, my heart began to pound and I could barely catch my breath as we slowly shuffled around the cement floor and made every effort not to look at each other. Then, with absolutely no warning at all, our cheeks somehow touched. My God, I remember thinking to myself, you're actually dancing cheek to cheek with a girl!

Then (and I don't think this was an accident), I slowly pulled her a bit closer to me. To my complete surprise, she didn't slap me or anything. I squeezed her hand, just a little. I almost collapsed when she kind of squeezed back. I decided to risk looking at her. And there they were, the two most gorgeous eyes I had ever seen. And then, just when the world had forever changed, the record ended. She politely thanked me for the dance and I turned and raced out into my backyard for some fresh air.

"Daryl," said the voice on the other end of the phone, "this is Sandy Brinkhuis Rocca. I'm just calling to see if you had any luck finding those Kings tickets? We'll pay almost anything for them."

"My boss has a couple," I answered, "and he says they're yours for free."

"Oh, that's wonderful!" she exclaimed. "My husband and daughter will be thrilled. Thank you -- and him -- so very much."

Thank you, Sandy, I thought to myself.

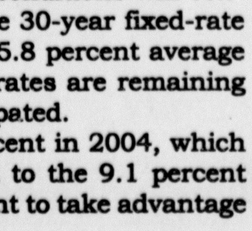
Financing a Home in 2004: Part I



DRE Lic. #01010462
David Trussell

The real estate question on the top of this year's list is, " will interest rates go up? " While rates inched upward to 6.44 percent last September, they keep hovering at attractively low levels, averaging 5.58 percent for the 30-year fixed rate and 4.89 percent for the 15-year fixed rate at the end of February.

Industry experts are predicting that housing market conditions will continue to be favorable in 2004. The projected average for the 30-year fixed-rate mortgage is 6.4 percent, which isn't much higher than the 5.8 percent average for 2003. With inflation under control, mortgage interest rates are remaining close to historic low levels much longer than anyone anticipated.

Existing home prices are expected to increase 4.7 percent in 2004, which represents a slowing down of price appreciation compared to the 9.1 percent increase of 2003. This is good news for homebuyers who want to take advantage of low interest rates but are afraid that home prices will soar out of range.

Home buying and refinancing should continue to be very affordable for the American consumer. It's recommended that buyers seek financing for a home mortgage that is no more than 25 percent of their gross monthly income, and that they set aside at least 20 percent of the purchase price in cash for the down payment and financing costs.

Kings Korner

Kings fans better hang on to their sneakers as Game 4 of the NBA Playoffs unfolds at the friendly confines of the Arco Arena in Sacramento on Wednesday, May 12th (7:30 ? ESPN/Ch.10). The Kings, who have the NBA's second best home record, and the Minnesota Timberwolves, who own the best road record in the league, are in for a thrilling best of seven series.

Sacramento won game one 104-98 but suffered a tremendous mental lapse in Game 2 to lose 94-89. In game two the Kings started to celebrate a little too early with a ten-point lead and only 3 minutes remaining in the contest. Doug Christie jumped off the bench after a Mike Bibby shot to lead the Kings in an early celebration only to watch in horror as Sam Cassell mocked Christie's gorilla walk celebration with his own game winning heroics.

Cassell is picking up were Nick Van Exel left off last year for Dallas in the playoffs! Cassell has been scoring a will especially at crunch time in the fourth quarter. He is just killing the Kings!

In game three, the Kings played like they were still in shock from the Wolves' comeback win on Saturday night. The Wolves out hustled the Kings at both ends of the court and watched the league's MVP, Kevin Garnett, play like a man on mission! Garnett carried the T-Wolves on his back in game three even after the Kings erased a 14-point lead with 4 minutes left in regulation. The result was a 114-113 overtime win for the Wolves.

The Kings had the momentum going into overtime in Game 3 as Peja's shooting finally came alive, but as Bibby fouled out and Peja missed some critical free throws to seal their doom. Peja Stojakovic has been ice cold during the series and Chris Webber has been very slow on the court, but the Kings have still managed to stay close in all the games. Peja scored 29 points in game three but missed two game winning free throws in the closing seconds after extending his free throw streak to 66.

The Kings made some very bad shooting decision in the closing minutes of all three games but if they can cut down on the turnovers and grab their share of offensive rebounds this series could turn in their favor. Somebody has to step up to the plate and take the pressure off of Mike Bibby. Maybe Bobby Jackson or Darius Songaila can come off the bench to add some spark to a very tired offensive. The Wolves have been rotating nine players while the Kings are only using seven players!

The Kings are now in a must win situation for Game 4 because Game 5 will move to Minnesota on Friday night (6:30-TNT). Game 6 is set for Sunday, May 16th (12:30 p.m/ Ch.10) in Sac Town with the seventh and final game penciled in for Wednesday, May 19th in St. Paul.

The Timberwolves have won 15 out of the last 17 games while the Kings struggled at the close of the regular season that dropped them from the first seed to the four position. The home court advantage looks mighty good right now!

See ya next week!

RC's boys duo wins league tennis tourney

From RCHS

River City High School tennis players Kyle Fisher and Anthony Bianchi won the boys doubles event at the Capital Valley Conference Tournament last Friday in Vacaville. Seeded #3 in the 16-entry event, Fisher and Bianchi won four consecutive straight-set matches beginning with a 6-0,6-0 victory over a team from Foothill in the first round. They followed that up with a quarterfinal win against Vanden's top team (6-1,6-2), a semifinal triumph over the #2 seeds from Center (7-5,6-2), and a very impressive 6-3,6-0 win for the championship against the #4 seeded team, also from Center. Their opponents in the title contest had eliminated Fisher and Bianchi's top-seeded teammates Cheng Saetern and Aseng Saechao in a lengthy semifinal, 1-6, 6-1, 7-6(4). Saetern and Saechao were the boys doubles tourney's reigning champions and had to settle for third this year.

Many other Raiders also had good showings last week, led by the mixed doubles pairs of Sen Saetern and Mai Ker Yang, and Leslie Yang and Lu Saetern. (The Saeterns are brothers and the Yangs are cousins.) These two teams will be playing against each other for the mixed doubles title this week at River City. The all-Raider finale was set up after the #1 seeded duo of Sen Saetern and Mai Ker Yang breezed through their opponents 6-2,6-1 in the quarterfinals and 6-2,6-0 in the semis. Meanwhile, Leslie Yang and Lu Saetern made their way through the draw as an unseeded team with wins against the pairs from Center, Rio Linda, and Highlands.

Boys singles player Judd Jadol lost just one game in his first three matches as the #2

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF NICK HARINA
CASE NUMBER PB04-111

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of NICK HARINA:

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Thomas N. Harina in the Superior Court of California, County of Yolo.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Thomas N. Harina be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on June 11, 2004 at 8:30 a.m., Dept. 11, at 812 Court Street, Woodland CA 95695.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a "Request for Special Notice" (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A "Request for Special Notice" form is available from the court clerk.

HEALTH

ings. In many cases, hospitals, businesses, insurers and taxpayers are left to shoulder the costs that uninsured patients are unable to pay.

It will take each one of us, people both inside and outside the health care profession, to work together to make high-quality health care accessible for everyone.

That's why I am joining the national effort, Cover The Uninsured Week, funded primarily by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation and The California Endowment, to focus attention this week on the plight of the millions of Californians who lack health insurance.

Cover The Uninsured Week provides opportunities for Californians from all walks of life and every point of view to come together. Our health care leaders, elected officials, universities, business and labor groups, and faith communities must mobilize community members to increase the visibility of this problem and to begin a public dialogue that seeks solutions.

There's no debate that our health care system is in crisis. We can no longer ignore the growing number of uninsured in California and our nation. It's time to get involved and make sure everyone's voice is heard as we seek a cure for this national epidemic.

About the Author: Dr. Bette Hinton is the Yolo County Health Officer and a member of the Yolo County Children and Families Commission. Dr. Hinton has over two decades of experience as a local health officer in both small and large counties.

GUEST COMMENTARY:

The uninsured: Rx needed now

By Dr. Bette Hinton, M.D., MPH

The fact that there are over 6 million uninsured people in California does not surprise me. I see evidence of this fact every day. The reality that this number will continue to grow locally causes me and other health care practitioners great concern. According to a recent analysis by the Yolo County Health Department, more than 8% of Yolo County residents are uninsured.

As the Yolo County Health Officer, I am frustrated that even one person in this state -- not to mention the nation -- has to suffer because they do not have coverage. The fact that tens of millions of Americans cannot afford health insurance in this prosperous country is a national disgrace.

We are part of a health care system that is made up of haves and have-nots. Californians who possess health insurance have access to the best medical care in the world, a vast array of medical technologies and services. People without insurance -- the have-nots --often delay getting care, live with prolonged illnesses, and even die before their time. As the price of insurance and health care increases, more and more of our citizens find themselves in this predicament either because they or their employer cannot afford coverage.

Uninsured patients spend a lot of time worrying about getting sick. When they do fall ill, they often anxiously experiment with home remedies and hope they can recover on their own. By the time they come in for a medical treatment, they are very sick. It's often a case of too little, too late. An illness we could have easily treated in its early stages has now escalated into a full-blown crisis, which we may or may not be able to solve.

Being uninsured takes a staggering toll on men, women and especially children – our most precious resource. The statistics are sobering. Uninsured men are nearly twice as likely to be diagnosed at a late stage of colon cancer as men with insurance. Women with breast cancer are twice as likely to die if they are uninsured. And children without insurance are 70 percent more likely than insured children not to receive medical care for common childhood conditions like ear infections.

Most of the uninsured are hard-working men and women with full- or part-time jobs. Here in Yolo County, over 80% of the uninsured are in working families. Either they work for businesses that do not offer health benefits or they simply cannot afford the benefits that are offered. For many of them, the costs of insurance and medical care are weighed against equally essential needs like food, utilities and rent. No one in this state should have to choose between a roof over their heads or health coverage for their family.

Many of our uninsured patients are people we encounter every day—contractors, waitresses, farmworkers and people who work for small companies. More and more of them are over the age of 60, suddenly unemployed but not yet eligible for Medicare, and finding themselves with no coverage for critical but expensive medicines.

When people have no way to pay for their health care, everyone pays. The problem of the uninsured takes a financial toll on our entire community here in Yolo County, not just the uninsured themselves.

Because the uninsured tend to wait longer to seek treatment, they are often sicker when they finally receive care. And when they do seek medical attention, they frequently turn to the nearest hospital emergency room, an expensive and inefficient way to get care. By utilizing the ER, uninsured patients may run up huge medical bills that can take years to pay off. In fact, medical bills are cited as the reason for half of all personal bankruptcy fil-seed in the tournament. He defeated players from Highlands, Center, and Vanden with ease in route to the final before running up against the top seed, Mike Fischer of Vanden. The two had split a pair of regular season matchups, but Fischer played his best tennis of the year and Jadol lost 2-6,0-6.

In the girls doubles event, River City's teams both made the semifinals but neither could reach the championship match. Krystle Parkison and Heather Yip were seeded #1 and easily defeated a team from Rio Linda 6-0,6-0 in the quarterfinals, but they were upset by the #4 seeded team (and eventual champions) from Center 6-7 (6),4-6 in the semifinals. Teammates Shannon Rivers and Randi Eckman were the day's #3 seeds. They also won their first match and followed it up with a 6-7(6),6-3,6-1 win the quarters, but fell to the #2 seeds from Vanden in the finals.

Fisher and Bianchi, along with Jadol and both mixed doubles teams will now compete this week in the Sac-Joaquin Section Division III Tournament which features the champions and finalists from six different leagues. River City will also be in next week's Section Team Championships, receiving a first round bye for their undefeated C.V.C. season.

They will take on Forest Lake Christian, Marysville, or Oakmont in the quarterfinals on May 18th at River City.

Sneak Preview — Summer Movies

Summer is almost here, and that means another barrage of blockbusters, sequels and remakes. Here are some of the flicks that Hollywood is betting you'll be flocking to the Cineplex to see:

MAY

Shrek 2 (Mike Myers, Cameron Diaz, Eddie Murphy) — Loveable ogre Shrek (Myers) travels to the Kingdom of Far to meet the parents of his love, Fiona (Diaz). Hilarity ensues. (May 21)

Watson, Radcliffe and Grint in "Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban"

The Day After Tomorrow (Dennis Quaid, Jake Gyllenhaal, Sela Ward) — "Independence Day" director Roland Emmerich promises the most intense disaster movie ever made. After decades of global warming, a series of meteorological disasters create a new ice age. Hilarity hopefully does not ensue. — (May 28)

JUNE

Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban (Daniel Radcliffe, Rupert Grint, Emma Watson) — The third installment of the popular fantasy series involves news about a rogue wizard, a murder and other mysterious thingies that involve Harry Potter's past. (June 4)

The Stepford Wives (Nicole Kidman, Matthew Broderick) — Remake of the 1975 movie about the small town of Stepford and its eerily accommodating womenfolk. (June 11)

Terminal (Tom Hanks, Catherine Zeta-Jones) — Steven Spielberg once again directs Tom Hanks in a comic tale about an East European man who is forced by the U.S. government to live at an airport. (June 18)

Dodgeball: A True Underdog Story (Ben Stiller, Vince Vaughn) — Vaughn is the owner of a gym that's about to be taken over by a fitness club franchise. His only hope is to win ... a dodgeball tournament? Looks weird. And with Stiller and Vaughn in the cast, it's sure to be funny. (June 18)

Ben Stiller in "Dodgeball"

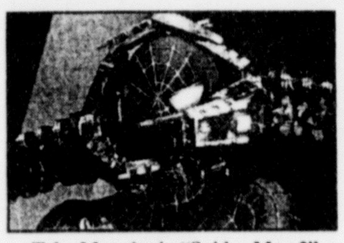
Spider-Man 2 (Toby Maguire, Kirsten Dunst) — In this sequel to the 2002 megahit, Spidey (Maguire) takes on the evil Doc Ock (Alfred Molina), a mad scientist who has four steel tentacles. (June 30)

JULY

King Arthur (Clive Owen, Keira Knightley) — Supposedly this is a grittier version of the Arthurian tale, with Keira Knightly playing a Xena-esque Guinevere. (July 7)

Anchorman: The Legend of Ron Burgundy (Will Ferrell, Steve Carell) — Whacky comedy set in the early



Toby Maguire in "Spider-Man 2"

'70s about a local news team. With an ensemble cast featuring "The Daily Show's" Carrell and SNL's David Keochner, this should be a winner. (July 9)

I, Robot (Will Smith) — Loosely based on the "Robot" series by Isaac Asimov, Smith plays a cop trying to solve a murder whose prime suspect is a robot. (July 16)

EGGPLANT BOATS ARE FILLED WITH FLAVOR

The eggplant seems to be one of those vegetables that Mother Nature designed especially to be filled with other good foods. In the recipe that follows, vegetables, meat and cheese are combined and nicely herbed and spiced. I suggest you look for 8-inch eggplants to have four main-dish or eight side-dish servings.

Depending on the size of your eggplant, you may have more than the required two cups for the filling. Sauté the extra while your boats are cooking, then cool and freeze it for the future, no matter how little there is. It's a nice addition to an antipasto platter, or it may be used in your next ratatouille or for stuffing tomatoes, onions, bell peppers or baked potatoes.

EGGPLANT BOATS

- 2 (6 to 8 inch) eggplants
- 2 tablespoons olive oil or vegetable oil
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 cup chopped tomatoes
- 1 cup cooked chopped meat*
- 1 teaspoon dried Italian Seasoning
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon red pepper flakes, or to taste
- 1 cup shredded Jarlsberg or Jarlsberg Lite, plus additional shredded Jarlsberg for topping

 Leftover or freshly cooked ground beef, lamb, pork, ham, chicken or turkey.*

Slice eggplants in half lengthwise and scoop out pulp, leaving 1/2-inch shell to form a "boat." Chop eggplant pulp and measure out 2 cups. (Reserve remainder for another use.)

In skillet over moderate heat, sauté onion in oil until tender but not browned. Add garlic; cook 1 minute. Stir in eggplant pulp; cover and cook 3 to 5 minutes or until eggplant is tender, stirring occasionally. Add tomatoes, meat, Italian Seasoning, salt and pepper flakes. Cover and cook 5 minutes longer or until thoroughly heated through.

Transfer mixture to a bowl; toss with 1 cup cheese. Spoon into eggplant boats, patting it to a mounded shape. Place each boat on a large rectangle of heavy-duty foil. Crimp up edges to seal. Place on grill away from direct heat. Cover grill and cook until done, about 30 minutes.

Or bake in preheated 400 F oven 50 minutes.

When almost done, open foil and add additional shredded cheese. Crimp tightly and put back on grill or in oven to melt topping, about 3 minutes. Makes 4 main-dish or 8 side-dish servings.

NEW PRODUCT NEWS: To keep step with the low-carb trend, Dannon has introduced Carb Control Yogurt, a 4-ounce cultured dairy snack with only 3 grams of carbohydrates and 60 calories, available in plain vanilla and three fruity flavors. ... Bush's comes in with the first microwavable container of its Original Secret Family Recipe Baked Beans in a 7-ounce individual-serving cup. ... French's, celebrating its 100th anniversary, has added yet another flavor to its line of mustards: Honey Dijon, spicy and sweet with just a hint of honey. ... Quaker Oats has launched Honey Graham Life, a third flavor in its Life cereal line. And Quaker sent me a recipe for only my readers. "Easy More Squares" is its version of the popular s'mores:

Spray 9-by-9-inch pan with cooking spray; set aside. In large bowl, combine 4 cups Quaker Life Honey Graham Cereal, 2 cups thin pretzel sticks, broken in half, and 1 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips; set aside. In large saucepan, melt 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter. Add 4 1/2 cups miniature marshmallows; cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until melted and well-blended. Pour over cereal mixture in bowl; mix until evenly coated. Press cereal mixture evenly into pan. Cool completely, at least 30 minutes. Cut into squares. Makes 16 squares.

Q. As a Korean-American myself, I know how conservative Korean family values are, and I was wondering how (comedian) Margaret Cho handled it when her family found out she was bisexual? — No name given

A. Cho says it was difficult for everyone, but that her family eventually came to accept her for who she is. As a matter of fact, Cho talks about this — and about a lot more, including politics and diet plans (she's had a problem with her weight for years) — in her new documentary called "Revolution," which will air on the Sundance Channel's "Out Loud" series on June 19.

Has he ever spoken about his relationship with (aquatic movie star) Esther Williams, whom his father, the late film actor Fernando Lamas, married after he and his mother, Arlene Dahl, were divorced? — Ruth C.

A. Yes, and in very warm and affectionate terms. Lamas has said in the past that she was always friendly to him and made him feel welcome in the home she shared with his father.

Sean Penn

Q. How many times has Sean Penn ("Mystic River") been married, and was one of his ex-wives Drew Barrymore? — Perle R.

A. Sean Penn has been married twice: His first wife was Madonna (1985-1989). His current wife is Robin Wright Penn ("Princess Bride"), whom he married in 1996 and with whom he has two children.

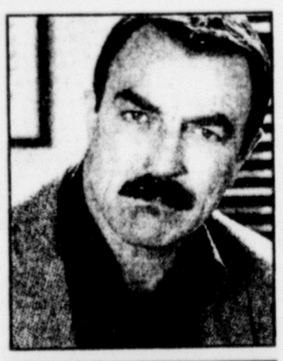
TUNING IN by Sally Stone

A Conversation With Tom Selleck

"Scott Turow's Reversible Errors," the four-hour CBS miniseries, is scheduled to air on Sunday, May 23, and Tuesday, May 25. The film, which is based on Turow's best-selling novel, stars Emmy winner William H. Macy ("Door to Door," "Fargo") as a corporate lawyer who is assigned to draft a possibly final appeal for a man (played by Glenn Plummer) who faces execution for a crime he may not have committed; Felicity Huffman ("Sports Night") as a former judge who received a letter from the supposed "real" killer; Monica Potter ("Without Limits") as the ambitious lawyer who had prosecuted the case; Shemar Moore ("The Young and The Restless") as a drug dealer who provided a "lead" in the case; and Tom Selleck ("Ike: Thunder in June," "12 Mile Road," "Friends") as the detective who investigated the crime.



"Scott Turow's Reversible Errors"
CBS • May 23 and 25

Tom Selleck says "Scott Turow's Reversible Errors" is as much an exploration of why people do things as it is about the things people do.

"Everyone comes to this with a different motivation," Selleck says. "Everyone may believe he or she is moved by wanting to see justice done, whether they're prepared for the possibility that an innocent man had been wrongly convicted, or are determined to find the facts that will support the original conviction. But as the film shows, justice may be the last consideration that each of them has in seeing this development through to its conclusion."

Selleck adds, "The fact that our system allows for the possibility that errors had been made, and that a conviction can be overturned or set aside if that proves to be so is a good thing. But in this film, it's not that easy to determine if any errors had been made. And as new information emerges, you find yourself wondering where the truth really lies."

Actor/writer/producer Tom Selleck, who will next be seen in A&E's production of "Ike: Thunder in June," says, "I feel very fortunate that I've been able to do some really good things — especially over the past couple of years."

He cites, for example, his well-received Broadway debut in the classic comedy "A Thousand Clowns," along with his recurring role on "Friends," and several films, including "Monte Walsh" and "Crossfire Trail."

Asked what he looks for in a project, Selleck says, "First, I want to know what it's about. Then I look at the writing. And then at the people I'll be working with. ... In ('Reversible Errors') you have Scott Turow, who has to be the best writer we've ever had about the legal profession, and also some of the best actors working today."

In Focus

Sandra Lee calls her Food Network program "Semi-Homemade Cooking," which is also the title of her best-selling cookbook. "I'm aware that most cooking shows emphasize making a dish from scratch," says Lee. "However, most of us lead very busy lives, and while we might wish we had the time to do it all ourselves, the fact is we don't. That's why my recipes are helped along with store-bought items."

Lee says that there are techniques for combining fresh ingredients with those that come from a can or a box. "You have to know how and what to use so that the final product looks and tastes as if it took you all day to prepare."

Lee's show features recipes for birthdays or other special occasions, and also includes tips on decorating, especially in the kitchen.

"It's the room everyone gravitates toward, sooner or later," she says. And knowing how to create different looks can make it more inviting. She cites, for example, learning how to make window treatments that are easy to put up and easily changed.

Asked why television cooking shows continue to grow in popularity, despite the fact that more people than ever are working and eating outside the home, Sandra Lee explains that home cooking is part of what makes a home a home. And learning how to make something new and different for our families is a way we have of adding to the total home experience.

DIAL TONES: "Friends" may be off the air, but a lawsuit alleging sexual harassment on the set of the long-running series is back on the docket after having been dismissed in 2002. The suit by a former writing assistant claims she was "constantly exposed" to male writers describing in graphic detail their fantasies about some of the female stars, as well as their opinions on the sexuality of one of the male actors. The complainant, Amaani Lyle, also says she was upset by the way her employers joked about how well or not one of the actresses might be sexually servicing her fiance. All of which made Lyle's life on "Friends" difficult to deal with.

Paris Hilton's mother, Kathy Hilton, will be starring in her own series, "The Good Life," in which she'll teach women who are competing with each other how to reach the highest rungs in high society. ... A long-running soap opera favorite from Australia, "The Neighbours," has begun airing on the Oxygen network. ... A rumored series based on the "Godzilla" films is said to be just that: a rumor.

An item appearing in the Sacramento Star last Monday reads: The causeway in Yolo County was blocked all day Sunday with machines. Automobiles returning to Woodland and Davis from the Sunday-school conference here Saturday evening were delayed by an accident and did not arrive on the causeway until 12 p. m. All stopped as it is against the law to travel on the Sabbath.

A pleasant social and bazaar was held last Tuesday night at the Washington Community Church by the Ladies' Auxiliary. There was a short program, and booths were provided for the sale of home-cooked foods. The program consisted of a short address by Rev. Bryant Wilson of Sacramento, a talk by Miss Sylvada McDonald, a recitation by Mrs. Hershel Ross and a song by Miss Margaret Ross of Sacramento.

The meeting of the Parent-Teachers yesterday afternoon was mostly taken up in helping the children to decorate the auditorium for the Christmas tree to be held to-night.

BURNING STEAMERS MAKE LIVELY BLAZE

The freight steamers Weitchpec and Alviso, about 100 tons each, and owned by the Producers' Transportation Company, burned to the water's edge and sank at the Riverbank Landing on the Sacramento River, causing a loss of about $30,000, last Wednesday morning. Neither ship carried any cargo.

Mystery surrounds the cause of the fire which started on the Weitchpec, although Frank Valine, river boat captain, who was in charge of the two boats, has suggested that rats probably ignited matches and started the conflagration.

The two ships were tied up at Riverbank, the Alviso being in close to the shore and the Weitchpec tied alongside of her. The Weitchpec had been anchored there for about twenty-five days, while the Alviso had been tied up only about six days.

Mrs. Alex Olsen, whose home is just opposite the landing, stated Valine awakened them at 4:20 that morning and said the boats were on fire. Riverbank residents attempted to save the boats, but the flames spread rapidly.

"It was several days since there had been a fire on either boat," said Robert Remfree.

He also said that Valine saved only the suit of clothes which he hastily donned.

"Valine said he also wrapped a blanket around himself as he ran from the boat, but he didn't know why he did it," stated Remfree.

The members of the transportation company are E. C. Mitchell, W. E. Hibbitt, A. T. Gibson and V. O. Lawrence.

Hibbitt stated that the company had no idea as to the origin of the fire unless it was caused by rats. When asked whether he thought some person with a grievance might have stated the fire, in view of the recent fire on the Alviso, he said:

"Oh, no. We do not think anything like that. The fire on the Alviso started in the commissary department."

Hibbitt also stated that the loss is approximately covered by insurance.

Lucky devil.

WITH FAIR WEATHER RIVERBANK ROAD WILL BE FINISHED SOON

The McGillivray Construction Co., contractors for the stretch of road between Washington and Riverbank are crowding the work so as to finish that stretch between Sixth Street and the Riverbank Inn before another rain falls.

Yesterday a large force of men was busy on the road and the binding material was being distributed on the macadam leaving only the rolling of the material to be done within the next few days.

For a distance of about 1500 feet near the Riverbank Inn the roadbed has been ready for more than two weeks but it was impossible to place the macadam owing to the softness of the ground following heavy rains.

That macadam was being placed yesterday with the likelihood that the binding material will be placed Saturday and the finishing coat early next week.

Supervisor Leinberger is praying for a few days of good weather so that the work may be completed and he may be relieved of eternal strain in connection with the road.

Residents of Riverbank and upriver points have been greatly inconvenienced by this stretch of road. They were forced to use the by-pass or detour leading to the State highway in West Sacramento and that became so bad that a week ago it was practically impassable except for very light loads and very heavy teams. For automobiles passage through that roadway was absolutely impossible.

The new roadway if not overburdened by heavy loads at the start or while the base is soft with heavy rains should last for many years to come.

Even up at Colfax where all the consumptives are, the Constable has run all the "undesirables" out of town.

They sent them to Los Angeles.

Religious exercises held at the church of Our Lady of the Immaculate Conception last Sunday to commemorate the feast of Our Lady of Guadalupe were the most impressiev witnessed in Washington for a long time. Right Rev. Bishop Grace presided in a specially constructed throne built by the Spanish people of the parish. An augmented choir rendered beautiful music led by Miss Ortiz at the organ and solemn High Mass lent great dignity to the feast. Every seat in the church was occupied and standing room in the aisles was at a premium. People of all sects were present and were greatly moved by a short address by Bishop Grace.

Detailed plans for the New Year's party planned by the Bryte Improvement Club were made last Monday night at a meeting of the committee at the home of Mrs. T. E. Sanchez. There will be dancing from 9 to 12 o'clock, preceded by a program. The nature of the program is to be kept secret until the entertainment. There will be no admission charge and refreshments of Spanish and Italian dishes are to be served also, free of charge. It was decided to have booths for the sale of various articles as follows: Popcorn, Mrs. E. Gallup and Mrs. T. Crenshaw; cake and pie, Mrs. T. E. Sanchez; candy, Mrs. Charles Noyes; horns, caps and serpentines, Mrs. H. H. Lee. Mrs. Harry Bell, Mrs. F. W. Bode and Mrs. Tom Collins will act on the serving committee.

The regular meeting of the Bryte Improvement Club will be held to-night at the school.

Mothers and teachers of the Bryte public school have decided to form a parent-teacher association and would have met last Saturday to start the organization but were prevented by the inclemency of the weather. Another date will be named soon after January 1st.

CLEVER ENTERTAINMENT FOR CHRISTMAS TREE EXERCISES TONIGHT

With keen anticipation the children of the Washington public school look forward to the Christmas tree exercises that will be held in the public school building to-night.

During several days the children have been preparing for this entertainment and from those who have witnessed the rehearsal it is learned that at no past such exercises were there similar features.

In the first place the auditorium of the school building has been decorated with appropriate trimmings and a Christmas tree of great magnitude was purposely secured. All lights are of the electric type, hence there will be no danger of fire.

Under the tutelage of Misses Kathleen and Mary McCarthy several dances and drills have been practiced by the children and they will be assisted by about a dozen children who took part in the Ad Club Masque in Sacramento. Costumes for the dances were loaned by the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce so that the drills and dances will take on new and interesting features.

Following the entertainment there will be a distribution of sweetmeats and other delicacies which were secured by the Parent-Teacher Association and other good ladies of the town, and at the close of the exercises there may be a popular dance. No admission will be charged and all parents and children of the town are invited to attend.

The committee in charge and which was named several weeks ago consists of Mrs. Conzetti, Mrs. P. A. Hart, Mrs. W. A. Parkinson, Miss McWilliams, Miss Watkins and Miss White.

The program, which is hand decorated by the children, is as follows: Welcome Song, Dolly Keenright; Popcorn Drill and Song, Third and Fourth Grade girls and boys; Telephone Message, Dolores Valentine; Little Lady Santa Claus (song), Ralpha Colclough; Monologue, Elva Brietzke; Pickaninny's Christmas, ten Sixth Grade boys; Crippled Dolly, Ruth Rickard; Why Mr. Gobbler Changed His Tune, ten Second and Third Grade boys and girls; Hollyberry Drill, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Grade girls; Instrumental Solo, Jacques Martinet; Indian Dance, by Intermediate girls; Recitation, Cleone Lynch; Song, Ralpha Colclough; Dance, Story of the Rose, Sacramento girls; Song, Ferold Lynch; Fire Fly Dance, Sacramento girls; Song, Dorothy Egan; Song and Answer, Marie Thomas and Francis Bennetts; Dance, Forest Echo, Anna Bedell; Dance, Spirit of the Nile, Cleone Lynch.

AUTO WRECKED AT DANGEROUS CROSSING AT FIFTH STREET

Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock a camping party consisting of three young men in a Ford came to grief at the sharp turn leading from Fifth street into Ann street.

The driver not noticing the sharp turn till it was too late made a quick move to avoid another automobile going in the opposite direction and before he could save himself two of his wheels slid down the soft side of the embankment where the car turned over on its side.

The occupants held their seats and climbed out without injury, but the car, relieved of their weight, turned over on its top crushing it and breaking the windshield.

A large pile of provisions in the car was emptied into the street but no other damage was done.

From what could be learned from the three young men, who unwillingly gave up any information, they came from Long Beach and were on their way to Nevada City for a hunting and camping trip. That was the account they gave of themselves, but subsequently it was ascertained they came from the University at Berkeley.

The license number on the car is 359-133. Damage to the car will not amount to more than $50.

This crossing is dangerous especially because of its narrowness and the great amount of traffic that passes there on its way to and from Sacramento.

YOU ARE BEING SUED BY PLAINTIFF: (Lo está demandando el demandante)

City of West Sacramento, a municipal corporation.

You must file with the court a written pleading in response to the complaint within 30 days after summon is served on you. Unless you so respond, your default will be entered upon application by the plaintiff, and the plaintiff may apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint, which could result in garnishment of wages, taking of money or property or other relief. Copies of the complaint filed in this action, and all other pleadings filed in this action, may be reviewed and obtained from the Yolo County Superior Court Clerk's Office and the office of Plaintiff's Attorney at the addresses noted in this summons during normal business hours.

You may seek the advice of an attorney in any matter connected with the complaint or this summons. Such attorney should be consulted promptly so that your pleading may be filed or entered within the time required by this summons.

DETAILED SUMMARY OF THIS MATTER:

Plaintiff City of West Sacramento requires certain real property within the City of West Sacramento for its Lake Washington Boulevard Extension and Southport Framework Plan Projects (collectively "Project"). In particular, it is necessary to acquire certain real property interests ("Property") for the construction, operation and maintenance of a right-of-way, sewer main, detention pond and recreation corridor, and related improvements.

The Property which the Plaintiff City of West Sacramento seeks to condemn is located entirely within the municipal boundaries of the City and consists of two narrow strips of land approximately 50 to 70 feet wide and totaling approximately 88,673 square feet. The Property is presently vacant and is generally located westerly and easterly of the Yolo Short Line Railroad. The Property has been identified by the Yolo County Assessor as portions of APN 046-020-141 and 046-020-151. The Property is also referred to as APN 046-020-14 and 046-020-15. The Property is more particularly described in the following section of this summons.

Plaintiff City of West Sacramento is informed and believes, and therefore alleges, that the Defendants named herein, are, and at all times relevant have been, the owner(s) of record of the Property, and interests therein, and/or otherwise claim an interest in the Property.

After notice and hearing pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 1245.235, the City Council of the City of West Sacramento, on February 19, 2003, passed and adopted Resolution No. 03-10 declaring that the public interest and necessity require the acquisition by Plaintiff of the Property, and interests therein, for the proposed Project.

Plaintiff City of West Sacramento is, and at all times relevant has been, authorized by law to exercise the power of eminent domain to acquire private property for public use pursuant to Government Code section 37350.5 and the provisions of Eminent Domain Law comprising Title 7, Part 3 of the Code of Civil Procedure (commencing at section 1230.010). Based upon this legal authority and pursuant to Resolution No. 03-10, Plaintiff City of West Sacramento filed the above captioned eminent domain action on March 5, 2003 seeking to condemn the Property.

DETAILED PROPERTY DESCRIPTION:

Through the above captioned eminent domain action, Plaintiff City of West Sacramento seeks to condemn, and acquire a fee interest in, the following real property:
